

A dialogue space for Tok Stori (sharing stories) that allows German users to share their collective understanding of German identity and enables Pacific people to choose what they want to know about Germany.

By Lisa Hilli & shi Blank (August, 2022)

Supported by Übersee-Museum Bremen

Family Question 1

Who do you classify as
people in your family?

Family Question 2

What are important moments for your family to gather?

Family Question 3

How far back can you trace your ancestry?

Parents, Grandparents, Great grandparents,
Several generations

Family Question 4

Has your family always lived in Germany?

If not, where did they migrate from?

Family Question 5

Who is someone in your family that is important to you and why?

Spirituality Question 1

Do you have a family tradition of religion or spirituality practice?

Explain why or why not?

Spirituality Question 2

I feel a sense of connection to the spiritual or a greater power when I ...?

Spirituality Question 3

What type of spiritual beliefs did German's have pre-Christian times?

Spirituality Question 4

Can you think of any physical or intangible things that are considered sacred to German folks?

Spirituality Question 5

What are your thoughts about German missionaries travelling to the Pacific to share their ideas of spirituality?

Culture Question 1

Is Oktoberfest a cultural event for German's or tourists?

Culture Question 2

What is your favorite German expression or idiom?

Explain what this means?

Culture Question 3

Do you have a strong connection to a particular place in Germany?

Describe where this is and why?

Spirituality Question 4

What are some typical German musical instruments?

Spirituality Question 5

Are there any specific German rituals or customs related to birth or death?

Food Question 1

Explain why pretzels are important to Germany?

Food Question 2

What is the origin of beer in Germany?

Does it have an origin story?

Food Question 3

Are there certain foods or drinks that are used for special or ceremonial purposes?

Food Question 4

Is there a specific type of utensil you would only find in a German kitchen?

Food Question 5

A favorite meal from my childhood is ...?